One page Biographical Sketch

Bruce W. Small is a practicing dentist with a busy private practice in Lawrenceville, New Jersey concentrating on clinical excellence in restorative dentistry. Dr. Small is an associate professor at the University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey from which he has received the prestigious distinguished alumni award. He is the director of an elective/selective for senior dental students on cast and direct gold at UMDNJ.

He has been granted the honor of a fellowship in both the International and American College of Dentists. He is a master of the Academy of General Dentistry and received the prestigious Borish award in 2010. He also is the editor of the Restorative Dentistry column in General Dentistry, the journal of the Academy of General Dentistry. He is on the board of advisors of the L.D. Pankey Foundation in Key Biscayne Florida and is a visiting faculty member there. He is a member of many other dental academies including The American Academy of Restorative Dentistry, The Academy of Operative Dentistry, The American Academy of Gold Foil Operators, and the Academy of R.V. Tucker Study Clubs of which he is currently the president. He is the mentor of two Tucker gold study clubs and continues as a member of one cast and one direct gold study club.

During the past 25 years he has given numerous presentations to dental schools, laboratories, study clubs, local, state, regional, national, and international dental meetings about his experiences with clinical dentistry and has published over 100 articles in refereed and non-refereed journals. Using scientific research as well as over 30 years of clinical experience, his teaching goal is to help others develop a rational and evidenced based approach to restorative dentistry particularly when using new dental materials. He is one of the very few speakers who can address the indications and clinical technique for esthetic materials as well as cast and direct gold.

His hobbies include golf, skiing, "O" gauge model railroading, and playing the guitar.
